

SPEECH

Any combination of consonants and vowels can help you become flexible.
Break up a word slowly – deconstruct – put back together accurately especially words that you have problems with.

The funny furry fly flew far to the flowers.
Harry had a horrible headache and hated to hear Henry howl.
“Be quiet,” said the Queen quickly, “or I’ll quarrel with your question!”
The zebra zoomed zig-zag in the zoo.

Irish wrist watches.
Yellow leather, read leather.
Yellow lorries, red lorries.

TH, F, V
F, V, TH
V, F, TH

Moses supposes his tosies are posies of roses
But Moses supposes erroneously
If Moses’ tosies are posies of roses
Where’s the posy of roses Moses supposes his tosies to be

Ah, bah, pah, tah, kah
Varnish, tarnish,
Balm
Laughing, drafting, psalm